

Question:Indian Constitution and Polity

The writs for the enforcement of Fundamental Rights are issued by:

- 1 The Parliament
- 2 The President
- 3 The Supreme Court
- 4 The Election Commission

Downloaded From: eLearn Pro (<https://myelearnpro.com/>)

Explanation:

The constitution allows both the Supreme court and the High court to issue writs to enforce fundamental rights. Article 32 states that the Supreme court can issue any of the mentioned writs to enforce the fundamental rights under part III.

eLearn Pro
Learning Made Easy

 Some Hindi Fonts are not rendered properly.*

Downloaded From: eLearn Pro (<https://myelearnpro.com/>)